Red Ivory Safaris & Safari Lodges hunt privately owned hunting areas, including government released hunting areas... with all these in mind, this give you as client the back bone to security for your hunt. We simply don't hunt small fenced areas. We are firm believers that the trophy hunting industry is a numbers game, this mean that the more number of game per specie, the better your change of getting an exceptional trophy. With Red Ivory Safaris you will not hunt for a specific animal on a small farm enclosure due to the fact that it is the only trophy in the area... no, you will have the change to hunt for your exceptional trophy out of herds and hunt down the trophy that comes your way... it is hunting not shopping, as they say it is.

Red Ivory Safaris PH's does not stand ready time ten to kill your trophy for you, you are the hunter and you will hunt it, even if it is wounded, unless you required help, or in a direct life threatening situation...

We hunt our lions in the Kalahari close to the Botswana border. These are kept on the hunting area and are protected for trophy hunting purposes... none of these lions are bred in small enclosures. This area is world famous for outstanding lion hunting. The hunting area is more than 67 000 acres of Kalahari Desert. There are several outfitters offering lion hunts but we have by far the biggest area for lion hunting. Early mornings are spending looking for tracks. Upon finding fresh tracks the hunt is on. Experienced trackers take up the lead. Normally in the middle of the day when it is very hot we can catch up with the lions when they are resting in some shade or taking a nap.

Wounded and lost Game:

We see this as a risk on three sides, firstly for the suffering animal, then the paying client, and then Red Ivory Safaris experience a long term loss. However one would like to look at it, it stays the responsibility of said hunter to ensure a proper shot... if not possible... simply do not pull the trigger. Red Ivory Safaris would like to take responsibility and share cost related in certain circumstances. Red Ivory Safaris will share 50% of the trophy cost related with wounded and lost animals in the following conditions... such conditions where the animal is not to be found at all.

A proper information sheet will be discussed and signed on your arrival... we do this as favour and not as a condition, and we would like our clients to see it in this way. Conditions to qualify for these would be...

- PH putting unnecessary pressure on a client to take unwillingly a difficult shot.
- Lack of professional trackers or dogs to do a proper follow up on wounded game.
- Any unprofessional conditions that imply any short comings on the side of Red Ivory Safaris in a serious manner.

Please don't see this as an open window to shoot and wound animals, the discretion still lies with Andre of Red Ivory Safaris. Andre has 20 years' experience in the professional hunting industry. This rule more over reflects our professionalism and commitment than to let the client find a way for an excuse for wounding an animal.

Upon arrival, please note that your rifle will not be at the luggage collecting area in the airport, but at the South African Police Department / Rifle Control on the Airport. After collecting your entire luggage, you need to proceed to the arrivals terminal, where Red Ivory Safaris will meet you. Together we will go to the Police Station to collect your rifle. We will assist you in collecting your rifles and completing the necessary forms... it depends on how busy the Police Station are at that stage but might take only 20 minutes to clear your rifles.

Rifles:

Bring preferable two rifles, if you are intended to hunt dangerous game and plains game, bring the rifles that you are comfortable with... we would however advise for plains game a rifle from .270 calibre and up wards. For dangerous game a .375 H&H will be a good choice. The bigger the rifles the better, but shot placements stay superior and again, shoot with what you are comfortable with.

We do have a selection of rifles for hiring if needed. Please inquire about options regarding this.

Medical:

On the safari Reservation Form there is space where you would need to fill in any medical prescription medicine, and other related situations.

South-Africa does have very good doctors, hospitals and medical teams.

A Visit to your local medical clinics will assist you in the medical precautions to take care of before traveling.

Medical evacuation done by airlifting - "Heliresque".

- Most parts are malaria free; enquire with us if you would need it.
- We recommend taking care of the following vaccinations...

Wing shooting:

Red Ivory Safaris do not specialise in wing shooting as the sport would dictate. We do have however 12g shot guns and we have some excellent hunting areas to do so. For water birds and land birds, we are avid bird hunters ourselves, and we would love to include some bird hunting if time allow.

If you require professional bird hunting days into your safari the cost related would be €400 or $500 per gun.

Other opportunities:

After or before the hunt we can do photographic safari to areas like St Lucia and surrounding areas. St Lucia has a very rich wildlife, and you can even expect hippo in the streets of St Lucia during the night. From here one can go for a deep sea trip whale watching, a trip on a boat on one of the rivers will give good insight into wildlife and for species such as hippo and croc. We have also a deep-sea boat that we can offer our guest an deep sea experience either for photos or for deep sea fishing. Some outstanding curio shops that is very cheap compared to other markets could be visited as well.

A Zulu cultural village is not far off and a night into the Zulu village will provide some good insight into the Zulu kingdom... you can read more on google all these and then Chakaland for the Zulu cultural village.

Until we meet in Africa...
